I started coming to Taiwan to study two years ago for my master's study program. Taiwan is a great land not only for the study environment but also for the people and the surrounding life. It is very beautiful and peaceful. Moreover, the people here are also really kind. I remember that on the first day I came here, I received extremely enthusiastic support from a partner who is an undergraduate student at CCU. This is a beautiful and unforgettable memory for me. However, for most international students in general and myself included, the cost of living is always a concern during the study process. It is fortunate and honored to be one of three recipients of the CCU Ph.D. scholarships this semester. It really helps me a lot, not only in life but also in the research aspect. I don't need to think too much about my spending expense. Instead of it, I focus more on studying and experiencing life here. A small amount of the scholarship which is extracted to travel and visit some places in Taiwan during the holidays helps me better understand the Taiwanese culture and people. Another part is used for learning resources such as learning Chinese and English to expand my future job opportunities. I have purchased some materials as well as online courses for this purpose. Sincere thanks for the valuable scholarship opportunities that CCU has given to students, it is really meaningful and opens up many future development opportunities for us. I will make the best use of this scholarship for my study and development!
